

EISENHOWER, DWIGHT D.: PAPERS, POST-PRESIDENTIAL, 1961-69

SECRETARY'S SERIES (A67-37, A68-1, A68-14)

Processed by: JWL
Date Completed: February 1994

Scope and Content Note

The Secretary's Series consists of two subseries, a subject subseries which covers essentially the years 1964-1965, and a correspondence, or reading, subseries comprised of carbon copies of outgoing correspondence of General Eisenhower. This second subseries is organized in the following annual segments: 1962, 1963, 1964-65, 1966 and 1967. Although the files plan, or set of criteria by which materials were selected for Secretary's Series was not found, the file may have been created in order to have readily at hand certain important materials frequently needed by General Eisenhower and/or his office staff.

The Subject Subseries is organized in a fashion similar to the organization of the subject segments of the annual Principal Files, that is, particular subjects bear code designations—example, “AP” for appointments, “IN” for invitations, “ME” for messages, and so forth. A sample comparison of documents from the Subject Subseries with those found in the equivalent subject files in the Principal Files revealed that duplicate copies were often found in both files. Large segments, however, appear to be unique to this file and a substantial portion of this documentation is historically significant. For example, the “Politics” (PL) files found in Boxes 2 through 5 contain important original materials, most of it bearing on the 1964 elections. Likewise, the Speech and Publications files contain important unique documentation of Eisenhower's literary activities. Such other subjects as “FO” (Foreign Affairs) and “FE” (Federal Government) are also apparently unique to this file.

The alphabetically-organized Correspondence Subseries is comprised entirely of carbon copies of important outgoing correspondence of General Eisenhower. Researchers wanting to examine the complete case files to which this correspondence relates will want to examine the Principal Files Series, Special Names Series, Augusta-Walter Reed Series, and perhaps other portions of the post-presidential papers. In this sense, scholars working on particular events or issues may be better served by other series.

For the Eisenhower biographer, however, the Correspondence Subseries may be especially useful. Because this file contains only Eisenhower's letters written on issues of importance, it is especially revealing of the thinking and behavior of the writer. Researchers will find here family information, data about Eisenhower's health, hobbies, finances, management of the Gettysburg Farm, and perhaps most important, anecdotal information about the interest he took in attempting to assist people, even strangers, with personal matters.

The biographer will also find here, of course, considerable documentation of Eisenhower's opinions about major public issues and personalities of the day, as well as an exposition of his philosophy, his principles, and the values he applied to both private and public life. But perhaps the most important information is that found in the anecdotes that pertain to his personal history. He recounts numerous incidents, and memories of people, from his Abilene boyhood, his West Point years, and his early military career. Researchers will also find many recollections of, and retrospective judgments about, World War II and his presidency. Examples include a lengthy critique of Kenneth Strong's memoir of the war, and Eisenhower's memories of Election Night, 1952. Although most, if not all, of these documents can be found elsewhere in the post-presidential papers, nowhere will they be found in such a concentrated fashion.
